GERMAN TROOPS ALONG ITALIAN COAST

GERMAN TROOPS ALONG ITALIAN COAST

Today's War Moves

By J. W. T. MASON

British United Press War, expert activity to London, however,
BRITISH military operations in the central Mediterranean, indicated today from London, may be the forerunner of the resumption of General Wavell's Libyan offensive toward Tripoli. It may represent, too, a preliminary defence against any German effort to transport troops to north Africa, seeking to reinforce Marshal Graziani's final army remnant.

The first presumption is more likely than the second. It is certain that one of Italy's principal military problems is the evacuation of the Italian troops, who retreated from Cyrenaica in advance of the British Libyan drive and are now in or about Tripoli.

Their number may possibly total 50,000. A force as strong as that ought to be able to give a good account of itself in defensive fighting, but equipment and supplies have been depleted seriously by the Cyrenaican disaster and by transport difficulties between Tripoli and Italy.

MEAGER RESISTANCE
Morale cannot be high, following the collapse of Marshal Graziani's strategy in Cyrenaica and the evacuation of prisoners taken by the British. For the Italians to defend Tripoli is to decide

Italian Ships Barred From African Colonies For Supply Operations

Communications Severed, Escape Of Remnants Of Libyan Army Prevented, German Expedition Spiked

By SIDNEY J. WILLIAMS

LONDON, Feb. 22.—(BUP)—The British navy is mining the entire central Mediterranean, the Admiralty announced today. The effect of the operation is to cut off Italy from all practicable sea communication with its north African colonies, prevent the escape by sea of the remnants of the Italian north African army, and bar the sea to any German expedition seeking to attack French north Africa.

The Admiralty announced that waters in the specified areas of the Mediterranean would be "dangerous" to shipping—the customary language employed to indicate mining operations.

Completion of the operation will cut off the central Mediterranean to any but British ships which may be piloted through the mine fields along the sea in two of its middle.

Operation extent: The operation includes mining of the channel between Sicily and French Tunisia. Mining of the Tyrrhenian sea on Italy's west side between the island of Sardinia and the Italian mainland.

Mining of the belt across the Mediterranean from Cap. Santa Maria de Leuca, at the heel of the Italian boot, to Benghazi, the new British army and navy base in Italian Libya.

Mining of the waters along the African coast from Benghazi westward to the Tunisian-Libyan frontier and then, just outside French territorial waters, to a position three miles north of Cap. Bon, Tunisia.

It is between Cap. Bon and Sicily that the Mediterranean sea narrows through its narrowest channel, less than 100 miles, and this stretch is one of those mined.

DOWN ITALIAN COAST
From Sardinia, the mine field extends across to Porto Fiume point on the Italian mainland and then on down the Italian coast to the heel of the boot.

The effect is to box in the Tyrrhenian sea, bar the westward passage of Italian ships, and cut off Italian territory in the Italian sea from North Africa.

"The area indicated is dangerous to shipping," the Admiralty said. "Any vessels disregarding the terms of this notice do so at their risk and peril. The collision of ships in July, 1940, to the effect that all ships navigating within 30 miles of Italian territory in the Mediterranean do so at their risk and peril is not affected by this declaration and remains in force."

The minefield which extends up from Cap. Bon runs northward to Cap. Spartivento at the southern tip of Sardinia. It runs along the coast of Sardinia, 30 miles out, to 40 degrees 18 minutes north, and then runs along the coast of Sardinia, 30 miles out, to 40 degrees 18 minutes north, and then runs along the coast of Sardinia, 30 miles out, to 40 degrees 18 minutes north.

British, Australian Troops Training In Malaya Jungle

Forces Prepared To Hold Off Any Attack By Japanese

Australian and Indian troops are

The "Ready—Aye—Ready" Smile!
Prime Minister Winston Churchill is the essence of preparedness-plus in this picture, taken recently when he visited Southampton and Portsmouth. The Prime minister, although wearing a naval cap, set a fine example of preparedness by taking along his gas mask and "this hat." The helmet is fastened to the gas mask which is slung over his left shoulder. Harry L. Hopkins, sent to England by President Roosevelt to observe conditions, was with Mr. Churchill on this visit and at both cities they were cheered to the echo.

CREW SPEEDS RESCUE WORK IN COAL MINE

James Schultz Entombed In Cave-In At Mountain Park

Exclusive to Edmonton Bulletin
CADBORN, Feb. 22.—With hopes of winning a race against death fast working, rescue crews are working feverishly day and night to reach James Schultz, 46, buried under a fall of coal and rock in a Mountain Park mine Tuesday night.

Schultz was caught when a pillar of coal collapsed in a large cave of the mine at about 9 p.m. Tuesday.

The rescue crews are badly handicapped by not knowing the exact location of the miner at the time of the cave-in and as the working is a large one at that part of the mine, much time may have been needlessly spent in removing rock.

WESTERN BLOC IN DRIVE FOR HIGHER WHEAT

By R. T. RICHARDSON

Edmonton Bulletin Ottawa Bureau
OTTAWA, Feb. 22.—Formation of a western bloc of government members behind a drive for a higher price of wheat on the 1941 crop is in the making. It is believed reliable sources in the west have already been in contact with prospective price caucus but nothing has been decided definitely on wheat policy, and a further caucus will be held Monday.

Meanwhile, Hon. J. A. Mackenzie is drafting a wheat statement for parliament but it is not expected to be made until next week.

It will announce market expectations and policy. Chivers recognize that a 1941 price cannot be fixed this far in advance of the harvest, but that for a higher price is forming on the basis of higher costs all day long. Hon. J. G. Gardiner, minister of agriculture, is understood to be a high-price exponent year as in the past. The 1940 fixed minimum was 70 cents at the Lakehead or Vancouver.

Washington Now Sure Britain Will Survive Against Nazi Attacks

ATHENS, Ga. Feb. 22.—(AP)—Kirk Simpson, veteran Associated Press writer and a Pulitzer prize winner, said today in a prepared address that if he reads the signs in Washington correctly, "there is no longer great fear that England can be actually conquered."

"This is a far cry from the view held by many experienced American military observers only a few months ago," he told the Georgia press institute.

"Even before France fell and while Germany's blitzkrieg legions still were rolling across the low countries, there were many in Washington gloomily stating that France and Britain could not halt the Nazi crush."

THE BRITISH ESCAPE FROM Dunkerque, he said, was the first symptom of Britain's ability to hold out in her fight against whatever might be thrown at her.

"So far as I know," he added, "no American who has been in England in recent months, whether a high placed presidential emissary like Harry Hopkins, a sight-seer like Jane Allen, or a newspaperman on duty at the front, believes now that England can be smashed by invasion, by bombing or by threats of starvation under a sea blockade."

Simpson said that if he understands what is happening in the war abroad or in the "home front" in Britain, it is a race between Germany and our British aid program.

The Nazi purpose, Simpson said, is to achieve a negotiated peace with Britain which would consolidate German continental victories.

"Our purpose is to avert just that by providing Britain some enough aid in adequate amounts," he said as Prime Minister Winston Churchill has put it, to finish the job of defeating Germany utterly.

But what concerns all observers, he said, is that once Germany attacks the blow or blows of this year for which she is making ready, will there be no exhausted force to carry the war victoriously back at her enemy, even if England itself survives.

German Officers Arriving In Sofia In Civilian Dress

General Staff Chiefs Occupy Suites In Swanky Hotel While Radical Students Demonstrate

By ROBERT ST. JOHN

SOFIA, Bulgaria, Feb. 22.—(AP)—German general staff officers in civilian clothes began arriving at Sofia's leading hotel this afternoon.

Groups of radical students demonstrated in front of the royal palace against "German occupation of Bulgaria" as the officers began occupying luxurious suites at the hotel.

Watchers along the Danubian river said that German troops were estimated 600,000 German troops are poised with position bridges and war equipment, reported, however, that regular Nazi military movements across the border had not started late this afternoon.

However, road signs in German began to appear on posts along highways leading from the Rumanian frontier to the interior of Bulgaria.

The British institute, an educational effort of the British legation, closed its doors and the four British directors prepared to leave the country.

LEADERS ROUNDED UP
Nearly 300 radical agrarian leaders of anti-German sympathy were rounded up by Bulgarian police without explanation.

They arrived in Sofia after being taken to the Rumanian border. Communist leaders were reported to have passed the winter in Sofia, but not in Bulgaria. In Bulgaria to resist the German invasion by non-cooperation and propaganda, but not by force.

Soon after the German officers arrived crowds of students protesting the German "invasion" of Bulgaria by their refusal to sing songs and shouting protests against the German "invasion."

GERMANS WATCH
The Germans watched the demonstrations from their hotel windows without comment.

DUEL FOUGHT BY AIRPLANES OVER CHANNEL

R.A.F. Battles At Blitzkrieg Pace South Of Dover

By HOMER JENKS

LONDON, Feb. 22.—(BUP)—A great battle of air action was fought today in the English channel region with German planes making repeated attempts to break through British defenses and R.A.F. planes pounding German bases in France.

Many other reports of airplane squadrons joined in the combat which broke up into a series of fierce dogfights fought at an altitude of 20,000 to 25,000 feet.

The planes could be seen and heard diving and gunning in constant combat.

CLOSE FORMATION
All day long British fighter squadrons flying in close formation with single flanking planes flying on each side circled high over the coastal area.

Several very large concentrations of British fighters took up a position to the south. Others of all types were scattered.

YOUNG FRENCH AIR MECHANIC STEALS PLANE

PLYMOUTH, Eng. Feb. 22.—(CP)—A young French air mechanic who said he was "fed up" with German domination armed himself with a revolver, seized a German airplane at an airfield in occupied France and flew it to England. Anti-aircraft guns fired at him as he coasted the coast, but he managed to land on a bumpy field at Tregate, Cornwall.

HOWE REFUTES CHARGE PLANE OUTPUT LAGS

End Of February Earliest Date For Delivery Of Bombers

OTTAWA, Feb. 22.—(CP)—Munitions Minister Howe answered with an emphatic "no" when asked in the House of Commons Friday if production of Avro-Anson training bombers was "many months" behind schedule.

"There was never the slightest thought in anyone's mind that we would get the first Avro-Anson plane before the end of February," he said.

"We expected them to be delivered at the end of February. The first plane has been flown but it has not been delivered. I do not know to predict when production will come."

"I will say now is that we never anticipated having Avro-Anson planes of Canadian manufacture in the committee of the $1,000,000 war appropriation bill. The aircraft program was under fire and Mr. Howe was requested to bring down a full report of the situation."

One of the reports requested was that of Ernest R. Breech, chairman of the board of the North American Aviation Company.

M. J. Caldwell, acting C. C. F. house leader, said he understood this report "contains some very pungent and vital criticism of the aircraft industry and the munitions department."

Mr. Howe said that report was made orally but he believed it was included in a report made to him by H. R. MacMillan, chairman of the war requirements board. It was a highly confidential document but he would table what he could of it.

NO RECOMMENDATION

"I can say to my honorable friend who believes, as does the leader of the opposition, that the Breech report recommended that the Avro-Anson program should be taken away from Federal Aircraft, that it recommended nothing of the kind."

"It recommended that it be not taken away from Federal Aircraft. It made no such recommendation."

"It recommended that in connection with its organization, but no recommendation was rapidly rounding into shape. That shows you how far ahead we can sometimes get."

"That is the reason we should get the actual facts," Mr. Caldwell retorted.

Federal Aircraft Limited is the wholly government-owned company set up last summer to handle a $50,000,000 order for Avro, twin-engine bombing planes to be manufactured in Canada for the Empire air training plan.

LINE WALKER—HAROLD (SHORTY) HILL

Main Gas Line from Viking Closely Watched for Leaks

The most rigid inspection of the big gas lines, which supply Edmonton with natural gas, goes on continuously through winter and summer. Pictured above on Monday was Harold (Shorty) Hill, main line inspector and safety engineer, who is now on duty covering every foot of the 77-mile stretch of main gas line between Viking and Edmonton every two weeks. With eyes, ears and nose alert he is everlastingly hunting for gas—watches for possible tiny leaks which might develop trouble if not attended to promptly.

Clad for any weather emergency and packing snowshoes for negotiating the heavily drifted areas, he sets forth on Monday morning from Viking on his 77-mile hike, which he completes in just a week. The work of inspection demands careful investigation every step of the way—watching for any little gas holes in the snow, listening for possible leaks and with nose turned he says of gas that it will never be overlooked as he goes along.

Progress is necessarily slow, averaging two miles per hour, even on the winter trip. Each day his time must be planned so that the regular stopping places are reached by nightfall. Some days this calls for

GERMANS CLAIM TO HAVE SUNK BRITISH SHIP

Sey 7,178-Ton "Canadian Cruiser" Sunk In Indian Ocean

BERLIN, Feb. 22.—(AP)—The Germans claimed today the sinking of the British merchant ship "Canadian Cruiser" in the Indian Ocean.

They described the 7,178-ton ship as out of Montreal (which it confirmed), took place some weeks ago, since the port of Montreal has been closed for the winter season.

At first the German high command in its daily communiqué had described the ship sunk as a "Canadian cruiser."

ALLEGED U. S. COLORS

The Germans alleged the ship had the United States colors painted on its hull "to conceal its nationality."

Nazi spokesman asserted this alleged practice "should be of the gravest concern in Washington," since "with the best intent, and through no fault of our own, the ship was in fact a United States vessel."

The immediate comment on the German allegations was available from British sources.

Ottawa Headquarters Have No Information

OTTAWA, Feb. 22.—(CP)—Canadian naval headquarters "without information whatever" regarding Berlin claims to have sunk the British merchant ship "Canadian Cruiser" in the Indian Ocean.

"It's the first report of such a sinking we have heard," a spokesman at naval headquarters said. "We are without any information whatever about it and after all the Germans have been known to put out misleading reports before to meet their own ends."

The spokesman added that any statement in detail or confirmation of the German claim would have to come from the British Admiralty, which has the exclusive control of empire merchant shipping.

U. S. Text Books

NEW YORK, Feb. 22.—(AP)—Dr. Ralph West Wiley of Columbia University said Friday a survey of 600 social science textbooks used in United States high schools showed a "substantial proportion" of them tended to criticize the country's form of government, or hold the attitude of private enterprise in derision or contempt.

A possible alternative might be France's consent to the Italians carrying from Tunis for Sicily and Sardinia. The new crossing to either island is the same, less 150 miles.

Such an attempt to escape, however, would be a desperate measure, with the British fleet controlling the central Mediterranean and the British air force operating overhead. In addition, the British mining operations have now made the passage still more perilous.

It is probable that this issue was discussed during General Franco's recent visit to Mussolini and Marshal Petain. There would be difficulties in such an arrangement not only because the distance to Spain from Morocco (or Tripoli) is 1,000 miles but because of Spain's delicate relations with all the belligerents.

POSSIBLE ALTERNATIVE

A possible alternative might be France's consent to the Italians carrying from Tunis for Sicily and Sardinia. The new crossing to either island is the same, less 150 miles.

Such an attempt to escape, however, would be a desperate measure, with the British fleet controlling the central Mediterranean and the British air force operating overhead. In addition, the British mining operations have now made the passage still more perilous.

It seems, therefore, that Marshal Graziani would be in grave plight once the British offensive began to approach Tripoli. His few perforce would involve abandonment of retreat by sea and placing his troops in the hands of General Weygand.

Serious moral effect on the Italians at home might well follow final abandonment on French colonial territory of the remains of Mussolini's north African army. Such a move might be the domestic reason, if General Weygand disarmed the Italians and passed them on to the Spaniards in Morocco, for final disposal.

RESCUE HOPELESS

Hitler must have considered a rescue expedition but it would seem hopeless. The new mine field which the British have planned plan the power of the German submarines, demonstrated so conclusively the recent bombardment of Genoa, make German chances of landing an army in North Africa remote.

Even if several fully equipped German divisions could get to Tunisia, which would be their natural landing place, they would encounter General Weygand's vow to keep French North Africa out of the war. The French might then join the British in belligerent action.

The further wishes to avoid that development at all costs. It would seem better judgment for him to leave the Italians in Tripoli to their fate rather than risk the loss of his French colonies back into the war.

HOWE DEFENDS HIS POSITION ON CONTRACTS

War Orders Placed To Get Quick Results—Bitter Attack

By C. H. BLACKBURN
OTTAWA, Feb. 22.—(CP)—Munitions Minister Howe says that war orders have provided capacity work for every small machine shop in the Dominion, but that necessity for speed and economy has dictated concentration of many large industries in the central provinces.

This was his answer, given in the House of Commons yesterday to inquiries from opposition members and government supporters alike that new industries be more widely distributed, east and west.

Yesterday's short sitting was featured by a number of crises and personalities from J. F. Pouliot (Lib., Temiscouata), directed against ministers and officials of the government, which drew a rebuke from Defence Minister Ralston and Opposition Leader Hanson.

NEGLECT ALLEGED

The remainder of the sitting was devoted to discussion of supplies of the munitions and supply department.

Howard Green (Con., Vancouver South), George Cruickshank (Lib., Fraser Valley) and Tom Red (Lib., New Westminster), protested that British Columbia's productive resources were neglected in favor of Ontario and Quebec.

Opposition Leader Hanson and Percy Black (Con., Cumberland) spoke on behalf of the Maritime provinces, the former claiming that less than four per cent of Canadian war industry was located in the Maritimes.

Mr. Green challenged the minister's statement that machine shops had capacity work. He said there were none in Vancouver not busy enough to fully occupy one eight-hour shift a day. Asked for figures he said he would give them later.

Mr. Howe gave figures to show that the government was committed to $207,000,000 in capital advances to private companies to enable them to enter upon war production.

Security for this money was the plant and equipment the companies purchased, which would remain the property of the government.

BITTER ATTACK

The sitting, which lasted only three hours, was enlivened at the start by the bitter attack launched by Mr. Pouliot on certain members of the government and a number of officials in the defence department. Mr. Pouliot said he had "never witnessed such backbiting intrigues as there now is in high quarters. He said tribute to all members of the cabinet except Defence Minister Ralston, Munitions Minister Howe and Resources Minister Cress.

Of Col. Ralston he said: "When I was fighting Bennett (Rt. Hon. R. Bennett, former Conservative Prime Minister), I was not receiving $200 a day in fees from the Dominion government." Turning to Mr. Howe, he said: "I will tell him that when I was fighting Bennett during the five years he was in power . . . I was not building elevators for R. B. Bennett at various places in Canada . . . The minister warmly defended those in his department who had been attacked by Mr. Pouliot, including Victor Sifton, acting minister-general of the ordinance, Brig. R. J. Ord, judge advocate-general, and Col. A. A. McGee, the minister's executive assistant.

Of his own acceptance of a $200-a-day retainer as counsel to a royal commission on grain some years ago, Col. Ralston said: "I have no regular and normal fee. I have no spoils to make money as the friend (Mr. Pouliot) or anyone else with regard to that matter," he added.

He drew loud applause from government and opposition members.

Opposition Leader Hanson congratulated the minister on his defence of those under fire and said: "This sort of thing must cease in the House of Commons or we shall be in disgrace."

He said he had been wondering if it would not have been better to

Prime Minister Mackenzie King was not present for the sitting.

STATISTICAL INFORMATION

The house was in committee on the resolution of Finance Minister Riley preliminary to introduction of the $130,000,000 war appropriation bill for the fiscal year beginning next April.

At the conclusion of the Pouliot incident Mr. Haley, Col. Ralston and Mr. Howe gave a great bulk of statistical information requested yesterday on war costs.

One return asked for was a list of capital advances made to private companies to enable them to enter upon war contracts.

Mr. Howe had a huge ledger containing this information and offered to have the information read, although Mr. Howe said it would take him a long time.

AT LATER DATE

After he had become hoarse from reading, Mr. Howe again asked to be excused pending extraction of the information from the ledger by a clerical staff and publication in Hansard.

But Mr. Hanson insisted that the reading continue unless the information was ready for immediate use of the Hansard staff, which it was not.

After half an hour of reading, during which he reached only as far as the 'd's in the alphabetical list, relief for Mr. Howe came in the form of debate on the whole question of munition manufacture, which lasted until adjournment.

At that time it was agreed that the remainder of the information could be placed on Hansard at a later date.

VICHY REJECTS JAP PROPOSAL FOR FAR EAST

French Stand May Increase Tension—Warships Sighted

By RALPH E. HEINZEN
VICHY, Feb. 22.—(UPI)—France, it was reported today, has rejected a Japanese "compromise" proposal for settlement of the Indo-China-Thailand conflict and fears rise that the French stand may increase far eastern tension.

The Japanese-sponsored armistice between Indo-China and Thailand expires in less than 72 hours and it was feared here that fresh border hostilities may break out.

Adding to Vichy's concern over the situation were reports that 30 Japanese warships have been sighted in the Gulf of Siam and that other Japanese naval concentrations may be in the vicinity.

GIVES TOO MUCH

The Japanese "compromise," it was said, was rejected because it would have given Thailand considerably more Indo-China territory than Thailand ever has asked of France.

The compromise plan provided for cession of about one-third of Laos province, a quarter of Cambodia, including the province of Battambang as far as Angkor, Siemreap and Lake Tonleap.

The proposal, it was learned, was accepted by the ministerial council yesterday and judged wholly unacceptable. The council determined to refuse the Japanese suggestions after cablegram advising Japan of Vichy's stand was said to be in preparation.

DEMANDS REPLY

The Japanese plan was said to have been submitted to Vichy while Admiral Jean Francis Dauterive was in Paris. It was accompanied by a demand for an immediate reply in view of the imminent expiration of the armistice.

The original Thailand demand, it was said, called only for two small strips of Laos province, both west of Bangkok and the Mekong river. The Japanese added to these strips a rich corner of north-west Cambodia.

Make Sure of It for the HONOUR OF YOUR FIRM

With justifiable pride many firms are already displaying this Roll of Honour, as the visible sign that the men and women they are working with, have united to work, save and lend to Canada, by the regular purchase of War Savings Certificates.

Whether you are Employer or Employee it should be your personal concern to have your firm prove by group action that you are making a total effort to meet the Nazi total war.

THERE IS STILL TIME TO QUALIFY FOR THE FIRST 3-MONTHS' PERIOD OF THIS YEAR but you must get the Payroll Savings Plan of the National Committee operating by March 1st.

Even if your firm has started a Payroll Savings Plan since January 1st, if you qualify with a minimum of 75% employees participating for the entire month of March, you will be awarded an Honour Roll. Then you can go on to win the Honour Roll seals for each succeeding 3-month period.

So—Get your fellow employees and employer to work immediately. Don't rest content until your firm's Honour Roll carries a full quota of Gold seals for 100% participation.

If a Payroll Savings Plan is not yet in operation in your firm, your Local Committee will be glad to help organise it.

S-T-R-E-T-C-H AND SMILE

News from the Health and Recreation Centres by EUGL HORNUNG

THE past week seems to have been one of many social events, first of all the West Jasper Place Centre, which, as you know, is under the capable hands of our outstanding instructor, Jean Warr, held a very successful "Valentine Party" in the West Jasper Place Centre last Friday evening.

Folk dances, relay and contests gave much fun to the girls who were convalescing with laughter. Social dancing to the splendid music of the West Jasper Place Centre band.

LYNDENMIST DISPLAY

Out at the border town of Lyndenmyst they are having some outstanding events. On the night of February 3 an open night ball was held at the Lyndenmyst Club. The Alberta Hall was packed with the crowd and the girls were enthusiastic. Our instructor, Bill Frost, by the way, one of the very best instructors we have, put his two classes through fundamental gymnastics, tumbling, springing, folk dancing and skating. The latter class, with 21 trainees in the first class, gave a very fine display of graceful fundamental gymnastics, tumbling, springing, folk dancing and skating. The latter class, with 21 trainees in the first class, gave a very fine display of graceful fundamental gymnastics, tumbling, springing, folk dancing and skating.

We must compliment the trainees for the very good display of the dance considering it had only been taught by Bill Frost for a few weeks. Bill tells us the girls are now planning a military display for the celebration of the 100th anniversary of the province.

February 28 there will be a social evening at Lyndenmyst. At this time they hope to have Eleanor McAllister up from the Lyndenmyst, a Vermilion class, and knowing Eleanor we can promise you that it will be a very fine evening.

Carver Centre is having the big dance and best play of the year. Last Friday it was put on at Carver, this Friday it will be at St. Paul's and next week we believe they will take it to St. Mary's.

We have had no reports from the city centres this week but expect that after the success of the last week, just week everybody has settled down to hard work for the demonstration in the spring.

At Spruce Grove the ladies are doing some very fine work. They are lately started aerobics. Florence Gossel and Iris Stein in particular are excelling in the work. We hope some day to have a really good display of the aerobics.
